CANDIDATE ESTIMATE ERROR. This is election margin minus poll margin divided by two. Elections are zero-sum games. In the CNN/Time-ORC poll above showing McCain up 7 points, not up 9 points he got, one point low for McCain means one point high for Obama; i.e., one point added to McCain's vote in the poll and subtracted from Obama's matches the election margin. This is the only error measure that can be compared with margin of error (MoE).
